He requested that the following items be added to future agendas: information on bicycle safety and hotline information for reporting a crime.

Cathedral City Councilmember Mark Carnevale said the City of Cathedral City was in the process of replacing the ERICA radio systems with the County's Public Safety Enterprise Communication (PSEC) system.

Vice Chair Megan Beaman Jacinto, City of Coachella, noted the recent release of crime statistics and said the City had seen a decline in categories.

Recommendation: Information

Background: Since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic in early 2020, Riverside County public health officials have provided regular updates to the Public Safety Committee. These updates were centered on sharing the latest data for active COVID-19 cases. In recent months, the briefings have increasingly focused on distribution of vaccines.

Amid concerns about the Omicron variant and with holiday gatherings on the horizon, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) announced last month that it is requiring masks to be worn in all indoor public settings – regardless of vaccine status – through January 15, 2022. At the January meeting of the Public Safety Committee, county officials will discuss the current mask mandate and highlight the distribution of vaccines and booster shots. COVID-19 data in Riverside County is updated regularly online: <https://rivcoph.org/coronavirus>

Additionally, the City of Palm Springs has been using the laboratory at GT Molecular to measures the amount of COVID-19 virus per liter in the City's wastewater treatment sewer system. The City reported that the Omicron variant was detected in a Dec. 7 sample of the city's wastewater, although it had yet to be detected in public health data.

STAFF REPORT*Subject: Partnership for Cooperative Land Management on Habitat Lands*Contact: Kathleen Brundige, Conservation Program Manager (kbrundige@cvag.org)Recommendation: Information

Background: The Coachella Valley Conservation Commission (CVCC) is a sister agency to CVAG whose membership includes the nine Coachella Valley cities, County of Riverside, Coachella Valley Water District, Mission Springs Water District and Imperial Irrigation District. The CVCC oversees the implementation of the Coachella Valley Multiple Species Habitat Conservation Plan (CVMSHCP). The visionary 75-year plan outlines a path to conserve nearly 240,000 acres of land valley-wide and protect 27 plants and animals, including Peninsular bighorn sheep, desert tortoises and the Coachella Valley fringe-toed lizard. In exchange for guaranteeing habitat conservation, developers benefit from a streamlined environmental permit process and critical freeway projects and interchanges can get built without delays.

The CVCC now owns almost 12,000 acres within the CVMSHCP conservation areas. Many of the lands CVCC has acquired are located in more urbanized areas, either adjacent to or in the vicinity of development. One of the needs to ensure effective management of CVCC lands is to provide law enforcement to address illegal and unauthorized uses.

CVCC owns and manages lands that are subject to a variety of impacts including dumping and unauthorized off-highway vehicle use. CVCC installs signage and fencing or other barriers to limit unauthorized access. Regular visits are made to the properties to attempt to control these unauthorized impacts. However, effective management of these impacts will require visits or patrols by trained and certified law enforcement officers who can issue citations to offenders. In some cases, visiting CVCC properties may present safety considerations for staff and the presence of a law enforcement officer is needed.

Since CVCC does not have law enforcement capacity, the Commission has been focused on establishing agreements with local law agencies that have trained law enforcement personnel. Last year, CVCC staff worked with former Cathedral City Police Chief Stan Henry to tour some of the CVCC lands where habitat disturbance from unauthorized OHV use, vehicle trespass, and other unauthorized activities is a significant problem. That led to agreements being approved with both the Desert Hot Springs Police Department and Riverside County Sheriff's Department, who are now working under the terms of memorandums of understanding with the CVCC to cover some of these problematic areas.

This is an example of a unique partnership that is helping protect properties throughout the Coachella Valley. The CVCC staff will provide an overview of these partnerships to the CVAG

Public Safety Committee at its January meeting, as this item was continued from the November 2021 meeting due to time constraints.

Fiscal Analysis: There is no cost to CVAG for this update.

STAFF REPORT

Subject: Law Enforcement Coordination with CV Housing First

Contact: Erica Felci, Assistant Executive Director (efelci@cvag.org)

Recommendation: Information

Background: At the November 2021 meeting of the Public Safety Committee, Riverside County Sheriff Chad Bianco provided an extensive update that covered a number of topics, including the challenges that law enforcement faces when it comes to addressing homelessness and providing solutions for chronically homeless individuals. As part of the discussion, a number of Public Safety Committee members also noted the overlap with the CVAG Homelessness Committee and its initiatives. It was suggested that staff follow up with the Sheriff and continue to provide updates on coordination of resources.

CVAG staff has reached out to the Sheriff's administration to provide the Sheriff and top officers with a deeper understanding of CVAG's CV Housing First Program. A briefing is in the process of being scheduled. CVAG staff is also working with local sheriff's stations to update the CV 200, which is the by-name list of chronically homeless individuals that is the focus of CVAG's program. These were individuals who were identified as being familiar faces to law enforcement, code enforcement and other social programs. Now that the program is entering another year, CVAG staff is working with the sheriff's department, local law enforcement and other partners to refresh the list.

At the same time, the CVAG Homelessness Committee recently created an ad hoc committee to complete a deeper exploration of whether additional homelessness resources are needed in the Coachella Valley. The ad hoc stemmed from an idea brought forward by Palm Desert Councilmember Sabby Jonathan, who had suggested creating an ad hoc committee to explore the additional services being used in other communities. The goal of the ad hoc, as outlined by Councilmember Jonathan, was to explore models that cities such as Los Angeles and Seattle have used to address homeless individuals who have refused services or who are not being helped by existing services. The ad hoc would evaluate optional programs that would be in addition to CV Housing First, then return to the full Homelessness Committee with a report and recommendations in 2022. Members of the Homelessness Committee supported the approach. The ad hoc was created with the following members: Indio Mayor Waymond Fermon – who serves as Chair of the Public Safety Committee – as well as Councilmember Jonathan, Cathedral City Councilmember Mark Carnevale, Desert Healthcare District/ Foundation Director Carole Rogers, and Palm Springs Councilmember Christy Holstege, who is chair of the Homelessness Committee.

In the initial meeting, the ad hoc members reviewed news articles and ordinances from other cities and had a conversation around the idea of solutions that get individuals off the street in a compassionate and productive manner, even if they are not ready to accept housing and services. The initial thoughts from the ad hoc members included exploring encampment policies; looking at the staffing levels of various programs, particularly for behavioral health; establishing model ordinances; and advocating for additional funding at the state and federal level. A second ad hoc meeting is being coordinated with staff from the City of Sacramento, where City officials are vetting a policy that would set a “right to housing” and a concomitant “obligation to accept housing” on the part of the unhoused.

Based on the feedback CVAG staff received at both the Public Safety and Homelessness Committees in November, it will provide opportunities for the Sheriff’s Department to remain engaged in the ad hoc committee.

STAFF REPORT

Subject: Human Trafficking Awareness Month

Contact: Erica Felci, Assistant Executive Director (efelci@cvag.org)

Recommendation: Information

Background: January is National Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention Month. Human trafficking is the force, fear and coercion to compel another person into commercial sex acts or labor trafficking against their will. Since 2010, the federal government has dedicated the month to raising awareness about the different forms of human trafficking and educating people about how to spot it.

In the Coachella Valley, a group of organizations – including Barbara Sinatra Children's Center and SunLine Transit Agency – have formed the Coachella Valley Coalition Against Human Trafficking. The goal is to promote public educational efforts through social and philanthropic clubs, faith-based organizations, medical providers, and key industries.

As part of this effort, SunLine launched a six-month campaign that is a "call-to-action" for anyone witnessing possible human trafficking. The campaign includes messages inside and outside of busses, in bus shelters, in print publications, and on local television stations.

Additional information about SunLine's campaign can be found here: <https://www.sunline.org/trafficking>. To report any suspicious situation that seems like it may be an instance of human trafficking, the national human trafficking hotline can be reached at 1-888-373-7888.
